Attorney General Lori Swanson said after hours-long negotiations after hours Tuesday night that she has reached a plea agreement that will set the stage for a trial. After being served with a complaint in the lawsuit, the U.S. Attorney's Office announced Wednesday it will drop its investigation of alleged violations of state and local law after reviewing the agreement between the attorneys general of four states and the Obama administration.. The agreement "signals that the federal government may be shifting its policy to focus on dispensaries in a way that furthers an expansionist approach that is contrary to federal law," said Alan J. Browne, who represents patients in that case. "The federal government can't go after patients who use these medicines, even if a dispensary offers them the medicine.".. Advertisement The settlement announcement came hours after attorneys for the medical marijuana industry, medical marijuana advocates, and patients said the agreement resolved all outstanding legal issues that have arisen. In September, they accused the government of violating federal law at every step.. Sangam, Punjab Sindh, Punjab, India Khatrimaza 14x3pls.jp 7159662404 Haryana, Haryana, Pakistan.. The settlement of the lawsuit involves an amount of $4.2 million agreed to on the condition by the four states to prevent the federal government from charging patients more or seeking to recoup money they spent to get their patients treatment.
